

License File Installation Instructions

When you receive a license file, right click on the file and select 'save as' and then save the file to a folder on your PC. If you are using Lotus Notes, right click and select Detach (not Export) and then save the file to a folder on your PC.

Please do not try to open the license file or double click on the file as it will get corrupted.

If you have already installed the product in evaluation mode, you can go to the help menu and click on the update button. You will then have to provide the path of the location where you have stored the license file.

If you have not installed the product then during installation you will be prompted for the license file, you need to provide the path of the location where you have stored the license file.
